Pullman steps up its expansion in India with the upcoming opening of three hotels

Pullman has announced the opening of three new hotels in India in the next two years, bringing the brand's portfolio in Asia to 20 hotels. A guided tour :

The Pullman Gurgaon Central Park (2011)

This hotel will open during the first half of 2011 in the heart of Gurgaon, one of the country's largest business centres. In addition to its 285 rooms including 22 suites equipped with state-of-the-art multimedia devices, the Pullman Gurgaon Central Park will boast a 1,700-square-metre business centre with numerous interactive areas and a dedicated team.

As a relaxing counterpart to its business facilities, the hotel will feature a 300-square-foot fitness centre, a spa and a swimming pool to meet needs of every guest.

Varied dining possibilities will be available, from French and Italian cuisine at "La Riviera" restaurant, South Indian specialties served on the hotel rooftop at "Le Pondicherry", and the latest regional and international culinary trends at "Senses", open round the clock.

A bar specialising in rum, "Citrique Bar and Deli", as well as a poolside café, "Tiki", will also be on offer to future customers.

Pullman Delhi International Airport (2012)

In the centre of Delhi, a cosmopolitan city of more than 22 million inhabitants, a brand new Pullman hotel with 270 rooms will be opening in 2012. Its three restaurants, "Bloom" (regional and international cuisine), "Rice" (pan-Asian inspired rice specialties) and "Deli" (with its own visible bakery oven), will each propose a specialty à la carte. The hotel will also have a wine bar and a poolside bar.

The Pullman Delhi International Airport will be fully equipped to receive business clients with a 1,200-square-metre ballroom and 11 multifunction meeting rooms spread out over two floors. Finally guests will have numerous options for relaxation, including spas with Indian and Asian treatments, a swimming pool and a 400-square-metre fitness centre.

Pullman Lavasa (2012)

The third Pullman hotel, scheduled to open in 2010, is located in the city of Lavasa, famous for its architecture. The hotel's 258 rooms will naturally be equipped with all the necessary features from LCD flat screen TV to DVD Sound Bar drives.

Ideal for conferences and business meetings, the Pullman Lavasa will be directly linked to the city's International Convention Centre situated on a half-hectare of grounds, which can accommodate up to 2,000 participants.

The hotel will have six restaurants and bars, a fitness centre, a spa and a swimming pool.
